What is Memory Care?

Memory Care is a special environment that supports individuals experiencing the physical, cognitive and emotional effects of dementia.

These Memory Care environments are secure, clinically enriched and feature specialized programs that follow federal, state and private standards that lessen the impact or even reverse the symptoms of dementia.

Memory Care neighborhoods within senior living communities have only been around since the 90s. In recent years significant leaps have been made in creating environments that normalize the lives of residents and their families, thus promoting full and satisfying lives for residents and their families.

TYPES OF DEMENTIA

Alzheimer’s Disease:

Who Needs Memory Care?

Questions often come up about the criteria for determining who would benefit from living in a Memory Care setting rather than an Assisted Living setting. Although there are many variables and an in-depth assessment will be completed before an individual moves into The Hacienda, two characteristics stand out.

The first is wandering or the inability of an individual to know where they are. Safety is the main concern here. A secure environment does not mean overly confined or monotonous spaces. The Hacienda Memory Care neighborhoods resemble family homes, complete with private suites, shared common spaces and lush courtyards.

Another general indicator that someone would benefit from a Memory Care environment is lack of self-initiative. If an individual needs to be reminded to bathe or attend a favorite class in the garden, a more structured day may be tremendously helpful.
The focus is on helping each resident lead their best, most fulfilling life.

Research is showing the enormous benefits that a full and well-rounded daily life bring to those affected by dementia. Such a life is steeped in regular pursuits meaningful to each resident that promote self-expression; good food that supports optimal health, especially brain health; spaces with plenty of daylight that are comfortable and preserve an easy balance between community and private time; and care that is dedicated, compassionate and fully appreciates the individual resident.

Memory Care at The Hacienda benefits the entire family. Dementia affects not just an individual but also members of their intimate community, whether family or close friends. At The Hacienda, residents and families become part of the community and its rhythms. They often find themselves sharing with their loved ones the simple moments that are the hallmarks of a contented life.
In traditional care models in senior living settings, care of a resident is parsed out among several associates, from dishwasher to charge nurse, who interact with a resident only within their particular and limited task set. This care model leaves residents experiencing a lack of daily continuity, and caregivers with significant risk of failing to put together the whole picture regarding a resident’s welfare.

In contrast, Nayas are integrators. Nayas are responsible for the overall well-being of each resident, performing nearly all of the tasks generally associated with a quality care environment. They know the resident’s whole story, understanding the complexity of the whole person. They guide and support each resident and their family with the vital and interconnected life functions of nourishment, sleep, movement, engagement and relationships. Residents benefit from whole-person, person-centered care.

Cuisine

Nutrition is of particular importance to those with dementia when weight loss can be a significant health concern. Studies show that gathering around a dining table together has far-reaching physical and mental health benefits. At the table, families share stories, build upon relationships, learn from each other – not only creating bonds that define them but also architecting the hallmarks of their well-being, including enhanced appetite.

Three family-style meals using local and fresh ingredients are provided daily in addition to the Personal Pantry Program, which allows each resident to store favorite items in their “cubby” and access them at any time. Meals are wholesome and well rounded, offering selections such as salmon filet, fingerling potatoes and asparagus. Residents may choose to enjoy dining areas or have meals delivered to their residence for the ultimate catered dining experience. Unique meal requests made in the morning are graciously prepared by skilled chefs and ready to enjoy by late afternoon. For those experiencing difficulty with utensils, Watermark’s special dining program called Thrive Dining™ creates tasty, nutritionally balanced, protein packed meals that are served as bite size hors d’oeuvres intended to be eaten by hand.

FOOD

Anti-Inflammatory Menus:
Cuisine features recipes created by Rebecca Katz, nationally-recognized culinary translator, that support an anti-inflammatory diet that boosts physical and mental health.

Thrive Dining™:
Watermark’s award-winning program offers easy-to-eat meals that are created from fresh ingredients and nutritionally balanced; these Thrive bites are so tasty that visitors often opt for them.

Personal Pantry Program:
Small cubbies provide space for residents to store favorite items that give comfort and joy.

Gardens:
The Hacienda hosts edible gardens and a small orchard that provide fresh produce for The Hacienda’s tables.
Engagement

At The Hacienda, residents are joined by associates in each moment in order to cultivate a truly engaged environment filled with accomplishment, fulfillment and joy. Through this, Memory Care residents are fully integrated into the larger community, at The Hacienda and beyond.

Activities are diverse, plentiful and incrementally refreshed to meet changing preferences of residents. Regularly scheduled activities include gardening and horticultural therapy, visits with horses which are part of The Hacienda’s In the Presence of Horses® program and music with Tucson’s celebrated Southern Arizona Arts & Cultural Alliance. Additionally, residents embark on outings to places such as Mount Lemmon, art studios, museums and local Tucson landmarks.

By living and working in an environment that organically encourages exploration and engagement within both the community and within oneself, residents and associates thrive.

Spaces

Studies show that there is great benefit in spaces that afford fresh air and natural light. The Hacienda’s many varied, connected spaces are designed to support well-being. They are spaces that communicate a sense of comfort and integrity that counters the notion that health care facilities have to be institutional, uncomfortable and uninspired.

The Hacienda’s design invites the formation of an intimate community, bolstered by the casual comfort and low stress ease of indoor/outdoor living. Private suites are comfortable, richly appointed, light-filled and spacious. Windows overlook a landscaped courtyard filled with plants and pathways with benches for quiet meditation or conversation. All community spaces – living room, library, kitchen, central courtyard and gardens – are easy to reach.

• Architecture with emphasis on indoor/outdoor living
• Comfortable common spaces that are easy to access
• A large communal patio where connections with the natural world can easily be made
• Private suites that open onto lush courtyards
• Well-lit generous common spaces where the community can easily gather or just hang out
