

When the house you own begins to own you, it's time to explore your retirement living options.

“Many times you can't leave [your house] because the cable man is coming or the realtor is coming or the pool man is coming or the housekeeper is coming, it is a whole string of people who have to come just to keep a house functioning.”

— Terrence Carden, member of The Hacienda at the Canyon

BE A BUTTERFLY

If a caterpillar were afraid to leave his cocoon, he would have little to look forward to. Are you ready to discover your wings? Come explore what's possible.

“Well, the first thing I'm looking forward to is having a group of people who I see on a regular basis who can carry on an intelligent conversation. Living alone as a widower is a lonely thing. After all these years I look forward to that. I'm looking forward to the restaurant experience. That is going to be very exciting. I'm looking forward to being able to safely do body conditioning in the fitness center with supervision, which I don't do now because I'm afraid I might fall or something. I'm looking forward to the cultural programs that are going to be available.”

LIBERATE YOURSELF

Meet Terrence Carden, journalist, medical doctor, wine enthusiast and founding member of The Hacienda at the Canyon.

After growing up in Scranton, Pennsylvania and obtaining a master's degree from Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, Terry traded a budding journalism career for medical school. As an MD, he helped pioneer the emergency medical profession for more than 30 years at Highland Park Hospital before heading to Tucson for its amenable climate and vibrant food and wine scene. In 2019, he willingly left his beloved Ventana Canyon home in order to continue his well-lived life at the newly opened Watermark community just down the hill. A level 1 sommelier, Terry volunteers his time and expertise as a member of The Hacienda's dining advisory committee and as a faculty member for Watermark University. His first course: The Business of News Gathering.

You can learn a lot from someone who has been in your shoes. Their honest insight can help you navigate your way to the place that's right for you, regardless of which community you choose.

STAY CURRENT

The world turns with or without you. If you want to stay current, you need to keep up. Terry does. He reads, writes, listens, learns and observes. With The Hacienda's stimulating atmosphere of vibrant longevity, staying current is a snap.

“Well, I think the big part of my life right now is just keeping up with the world. As I said I was a journalist and I've never given that up. I read two newspapers here every day, that's the beginning of my day and it's very important to me and I will continue that and I love the fact that the newspapers will be delivered to my front door every morning.”

ENGAGE AND SAVOR

The Hacienda's full calendar of classes and amenity-rich campus gives Terry abundant opportunities to engage in his personal well-being, hobbies and passions. With five restaurants, two bars and a spa on-site along with a flexible credit to enjoy them liberally with guests, he finds entertaining easy, too.

“I have friends in the communities near us and I'm sure that I will continue my friendships with those people and see them on a regular basis and have them visit me and have lunch or dinner with me.”
